Description

Acionna is a beautifully designed 58ft Liverpool Kingfisher cruiser stern narrowboat, built in 2003 and inspired by the Celtic Gallic water goddess, Acionna, who governed the flow of water and the power of springs. This boat offers a perfect blend of traditional craftsmanship and modern comforts, making it an ideal choice for long-term cruising or weekend getaways. From the moment you step aboard, you'll be greeted by a warm and inviting atmosphere, with wood panelling throughout the boat and oak flooring that adds a timeless charm.

The living area, accessible through two glazed doors from the front deck, provides an unexpectedly spacious environment thanks to the generous headroom, a feature that sets this narrowboat apart from many others. The multi-fuel stove and two-seater sofa create a cosy and relaxing space to unwind, while the practical storage under the gunnel helps keep the space tidy. A side hatch allows for additional ventilation and easy access to the water, adding to the boat's functionality.

The galley is designed for ease of use, with an open-plan layout that includes a full-sized gas cooker and oven, a 12-volt/240-volt fridge, and a sink with a drainer. The tiled worktop and ample cupboard space provide plenty of room for storage and meal preparation. Whether you're cooking a hearty meal or simply making a quick snack, the galley is well-equipped to suit your needs.

Acionna's bathroom is spacious and well-appointed, offering a full-sized shower with a foldable screen, a compostable toilet (which can be converted back to a Thetford cassette if desired), and a sink with a vanity unit. A corner storage cupboard and shelving offer plenty of room to store toiletries and other essentials, while the overall design maximizes the available space for comfort and convenience.

The rear bedroom offers a peaceful retreat after a day on the water, with a fixed double bed that provides a restful night's sleep. There's ample storage space around the bed, including a full-size wardrobe, two drawers, and additional cupboard storage. The clever use of space under the bed and stairs ensures you'll never be short on room for your belongings. From the bedroom, stairs lead up to the stern cruiser deck, where you can enjoy the stunning views and open air as you navigate the waterways.

Acionna is a perfect example of a well-balanced narrowboat, offering a harmonious blend of practicality, style, and comfort. Whether you're looking for a weekend cruiser or a more permanent floating home, this boat will meet all your needs with its spacious layout, modern amenities, and classic design.
